PORTO RICAN CASES

Supreme Court Holds Foraker Act Constitutional.

ISLAND DOMESTIC TERRITORY

And Held to Have Been Such Before the Passage of the Act.

GOVERNMENT LOSES OTHER SUITS.

Exhaustive Opinion Rendered by Justice Brown in the De Lima Affair, Four Judges Dissenting—Reasons Cited in Celebrated Cases.

Washington, May 27.—The United States supreme court handed down opinions covering all of the issues on the new insular possessions which have been in controversy. Although several of the decisions upheld the contestants on certain issues raised, yet in the most important decision, that of Downes against Bidwell, Justice Brown announced the decision of the court upholding the general attitude and policy of the administration up to the present time. The effect of this decision is to affirm the constitutionality of the Foraker act and to give congress power to deal with a newly acquired territory in such manner as this legislative branch may consider suitable for the new territory. The decision also has the effect of declaring that the new insular possessions do not by virtue of the treaty of cession acquire all the privileges and rights of the constitution.

Justice Brown, in handing down the decision in the DeLima case, first announced the court's decision on point of jurisdiction, holding that the court had jurisdiction.

The DeLima case involved the importation of goods into the United States from Porto Rico after the ratification of the treaty of Paris and before the passage of the Porto Rican act. DeLima & Co., doing business in New York, imported from San Juan, P. R., during the months of June and July, 1899, certain sugars, the product of Porto Rico. Upon these sugars the collector at New York demanded and collected about $13,000 as customs duties. DeLima company sued Bidwell, the collector, as an individual in the supreme court of the state of New York to recover back the duties thus paid, amounting in all to $13,145, alleging that they were unlawfully demanded in violation of the constitution and collected by duress, the collector exacting the payment of the duties as a condition to the delivery of the sugars. On the petition of the collector the suit was removed to the circuit court of the United States for the southern district of New York, which sustained the demurrer to the complaint both on the ground that no cause for action was stated and that the court had no jurisdiction. From the judgment dismissing the complaint DeLima & Co. prosecute error from this court.

Justice Brown said that whether the sugars imported from or into Porto Rico were dutiable depends upon whether Porto Rico is a foreign country. He held that the right to acquire territory involves the right to govern and control it by congress, but he said that a country could not be both foreign and domestic. The opinion was opposed to the contention of the government. He concluded that at the time the duties were collected Porto Rico was a territory and not a foreign country, but a territory of the United States.

Duties Were Illegal.
Justice Brown concluded as follows: "If an act of congress be necessary to convert a foreign country into domestic territory, the question at once suggests itself, what is the character of the legislation demanded for this purpose? Will an act appropriating money for its purpose be sufficient? Apparently not. Will an act appropriating the duties collected upon imports to and from such country for the benefit of its government be sufficient? Apparently not. Will acts making appropriations for its postal service, for the establishment of lighthouses, for the maintenance of quarantine stations, for erecting public buildings have that effect? Will an act establishing a complete local government, but with a reservation of a right to collect duties upon commerce be adequate for that purpose? None of these, nor all together, will be sufficient, if the contention of the government be sound, since acts embracing all these provisions have been passed in connection with Porto Rico, and it is insisted that it is still a foreign country within the meaning of the tariff law. We are unable to acquiesce in this assumption that a territory may be at the same time both foreign and domestic. "We are therefore of opinion that at the time these duties were levied Porto Rico was not a foreign country within the meaning of the tariff laws, but a territory of the United States, that the duties were illegally exacted and that the plaintiffs are entitled to recover them back. The judgment of the circuit court for the southern district of New York is therefore reversed and the case remanded to that court for further proceedings in consequence with this question."

"The theory that a country remains foreign with respect to the tariff laws until congress has acted by embracing it within the customs union, pre-supposes that a country may be domestic for one purpose and foreign for another. It may undoubtedly become necessary for the adequate administration of a domestic territory to pass a special act providing the proper machinery and officers as the president would have no authority, except under the war power, to administer it himself; but no act is necessary to make it domestic territory if once it has been ceded to the United States. We express no opinion as to whether congress is bound to appropriate the money to pay for it. This theory also pre-supposes that territory may be held indefinitely by the United States; that it may be treated in every particular except for tariff purposes as domestic territory; that laws be enacted and enforced by officers of the United States sent there for that purpose.

The other cases were decided the same way for reasons cited in the DeLima case, four judges dissenting.

Foraker Act Constitutional.

In the Downes case the United States supreme court decided, in an opinion by Justice Brown, that while Porto Rico is a territory of the United States it is not such for tariff purposes, and that the Foraker act is constitutional. The judgment of the circuit court was affirmed. A dissenting opinion was handed down by Justice White, in which Justices Shiras and McKenna concurred.

In the course of his reasoning on the manner of the acquisition of Porto Rico, Justice Brown held that congress has authority to control such territory. "Indeed it is," he said, "scarcely too much to say that there has not been a session of congress since the territory of Louisiana was purchased that that body had not enacted legislation based upon the assumed authority to govern and control the territory. It is an authority which arises, not necessarily from the territorial clause of the constitution, but from the necessities of the case and inability of the states to act upon the subject. Under this power congress may deal with territory acquired by treaty; administer its government as it does that of the District of Columbia. It may organize a local territorial government; it may admit it as a state upon equality with other states; it may sell its public ownings to individual citizens, or may donate them as homesteads to actual settlers. In short, when once acquired by treaty it belongs to the United States and is subject to the disposition of congress.

"Territory thus acquired can remain a foreign country under the tariff laws only upon one of two theories: Either that the word 'foreign' applies to such countries as were foreign at the time the statute was enacted, notwithstanding any subsequent change in their condition or that they remain foreign under the tariff laws until congress has formally embraced them within the custom union of the states.

"The first theory is obviously untenable. While a statute is presumed to speak from the time of its enactment, it embraces all such persons or things as subsequently fall within its scope, and ceases to apply to such as thereafter fall without its scope."

Dissenting Judges' Side.

Justice McKenna delivered the dissenting opinion of the supreme court in the insular cases. He was joined in the opinion by Justices Shiras, Gray and White. Justice McKenna went into a detailed examination of the cases cited in the majority opinion. He maintained that they did not show a clear current of decision, but disclosed much divergence of view. He referred also to the fact that precedents not in consonance with the majority view were now dismissed as dictum and not binding opinion. He spoke of the dangers attending dismissal of judicial opinion as "dictum" and of the greater danger when such a course may interfere or had interfered with the action of a nation. Constancy and certainty of judicial opinion was of the highest importance. Justice McKenna's examination of the many precedents was exhaustive, an almost an hour was given to showing to what extent the circumstances of each case bore on the present condition in Porto Rico.

Justice White said the court in the Downes case holds that congress had the power under the Porto Rican tariff act to impose a tariff duty on goods coming from Porto Rico. He expressed himself as unable to conceive on what theory they thus proceeded and expressed the opinion that it was due to confusion of thought in the DeLima case. It was settled law, by the decisions in the Woodruff case and the Houston case, he said, that the power of congress to levy an impost duty did not extend to any territory that was a part of the United States, and the result of the majority opinion in the Downes case thus would be to bring about a state of things where territory which was a part of the United States before the Foraker act became a foreign territory after the Foraker act. The dissenting justices throughout their dissents took occasion to criticize sharply the apparent conflict between the majority ruling in the DeLima case and that which would follow later in the Downes case.

COVETED BY GERMANY

Two Optant Provinces Adjacent to the Russian Holdings in China.

KAISER DOES NOT MEAN TO EVACUATE

Celestials More Excited Than Ever and Will Renew Attacks on the Legations—Indemnity May Be Cut.

St. Petersburg, May 27.—President Oukhtomsky, president of the Russo-Chinese bank and an authority on the Chinese question, has returned from Peking. Said he: "I did not see Count Von Waldersee at Peking, but every one there felt that he knew the uselessness of his position. He does not comprehend the tenacity and silent resisting power of the Chinese. The Chinese will never forgive and never forget. There is no fear with them. The spirit of fatalism among them is strong. They would not care even if as many more of them were sacrificed. The Chinese should be treated as barbarians, with whom we have no more intercourse.

"Should Germany not evacuate Peking before the wet season comes on, when the season commences the legations cannot remain in the city. They will have to go up to the hills. They will go with a small guard of soldiers. The Chinese are now more angry and excited than ever and will attack all the legations. The pillaging at Peking was something awful. Peking was fabulously rich. The Germans do not mean to get out of China at all. That was what everybody knew who was in Peking. They covet the provinces of Chantung and Chi Li, adjacent to us in Manchuria, a territory with 25,000,000 of Chinese inhabitants."

Indemnity May Be Reduced.

Peking, May 27.—It seems probable the proposition limiting the indemnity to be demanded from China to 450,000,000 taels will be agreed to by end of the week. United States Special Commissioner Rockhill thinks this may be considered an American victory. Though his proposition limiting indemnity to 310,000,000 taels was not accepted, still it was the cause of the other powers considering the idea. The only point likely to cause further delay in a decision by all the powers except America is that regarding the raising of the foreign customs 5 per cent. Mr. Rockhill told the ministers at a recent meeting that rather than take this step America would relinquish all claims to indemnity.

Came Together at a Switch.

Albany, May 27.—Two jammed trolley cars crashed together at a switch with fatal effect. The accident was the result, it is thought, of a mad race by the motormen for the switch. Five persons were killed, including the motormen, and 50 injured, some seriously. The cars were reduced to splinters.

Damaged by Floods.

Raleigh, N. C., May 27.—Governor Aycock says all the lowland crops of the state penitentiary farm, known as "Caledonia," were destroyed in the recent floods. He says the flood damage in the state amounts to several million dollars. All streams in this section are rising.

A Love Tragedy.

Elkins, W. Va., May 27.—Information was received here of the murder of Miss Sarah Parker by Samuel Reedy at Gladly Fork, 20 miles from here. William Foley, of whom Reed is said to have been jealous, was slightly wounded. Reed escaped.

Mrs. Bonine Wants Out.

Washington, May 27.—A petition for a writ of habeas corpus was filed by counsel for Mrs. Lola Bonine, who is held in connection with the killing of young Ayres, the census clerk, in the Hotel Kenmore two weeks ago. The writ was refused.

MAY LOSE THEIR SEATS.

Both Tillman and McLaurin in Danger. Candidates Bob Up.

Charleston, S. C., May 27.—Both United States Senators Tillman and McLaurin may lose their seats in congress as a result of their joint resignation and appeal to their party to decide between them. The fate of Senator Platt in New York in 1881 is recalled by politicians of both factions. Candidates for their places have come forward, and the most exciting campaign in the history of the state is promised. That McLaurin will be defeated is a foregone conclusion. Tillman is still strong with the farmers, but he will have strong men against him. McLaurin, almost on the verge of a physical collapse, which may mean his death in a political campaign, admits his condition, but declares that manhood will force him to stand squarely to the issue and meet his rival on the stump.

Candidates for Senate.

Chattanooga, May 27.—Governor McSweeney of South Carolina, who is here attending the dedication services of the South Carolina monument at Chickamauga stated that he would probably be a candidate for the United States senate in the coming primary, although he had no definite announcement to make. Colonel Wiley Jones, chairman of the state Democratic committee, who is in command of a regiment of militia with a party, and who announced his candidacy for the senate, issued a call for a meeting of the committee on July 1 to plan the campaign.

Machinists Still Out.

Dunkirk, N. Y., May 27.—Work was resumed at the Brooks locomotive works, about two-thirds of the employees reporting for work. None of the striking machinists or allied metal workers returned to work. All departments of the works are running, but with a reduced force. The officers of the company have submitted to the strikers terms of settlement, which have been forwarded to President O'Connell at Toronto for his consideration and advice.

Silver for the Wisconsin.

San Francisco, May 27.—The battleship Wisconsin was formally presented with a silver banquet service, the gift of the state whose name she bears. The tender of the service was made by Julius Bleyer of Milwaukee, and its acceptance by Captain George B. Reiter. Accompanying the service is a bronze badger, the emblem of Wisconsin, four feet high, which was cast from cannon captured from Spain during the late war.

Clash With Soldiers.

St. Petersburg, May 27.—Rioting has spread to South Russia as a result of the production of the anti-semitic play, "The Smugglers." At Kutais thousands of people congregated around the theater and stoned the police. A detachment of Cossacks charged and dispersed the crowd. Thirteen policemen, 15 Cossacks and two officers of Cossacks were severely hurt.

Found a Capsized Schooner.

Marinette, Wis., May 27.—Nine lives have probably been added to the victims of Friday's gale. Captain Robert Evans of the steam barge Francis Hinton, bound from Milwaukee to Marinette, arrived here and reported finding a capsized schooner 15 miles off Manitowoc Sunday afternoon.

Pittsburg Ripper Bill.

Philadelphia, May 27.—The supreme court rendered a decision confirming the constitutionality of what is known as the "Pittsburg ripper bill," recently passed by the legislature. The bill establishes a new government for the second-class cities of the states, Pittsburg, Allegheny and Scranton.

Ohio Woman Dies at Sea.

New York, May 27.—Mrs. Harriet Gunsaulus of London, O., wife of Consul Gunsaulus, stationed at Pernambuco, Brazil, while journeying homeward, died in childbirth at sea. The baby also died. The bodies of the mother and child were consigned to the waves.

Troops Leave China.

Washington, May 27.—A dispatch received at the war department from General Chaffee at Taku says that the transports Sumner and Lennox sail May 27, and that all of the troops that are to leave China are off for Manila.

Boilermakers' Strike.

New York, May 27.—The boilermakers, numbering 300, employed by the Babcock & Wilcox company at Bayonne, N. J., struck for a nine-hour workday without reduction in wages.

Defrauded the Government.

Chicago, May 27.—Having pleaded guilty to operating an illicit oleomargarine factory, Albert T. Dow, proprietor of the Fertile Valley Creamery company, was fined $10,000 and sentenced to six months in the county jail by Judge Kohlsaat in the Federal court. Dow is said to have cheated the government out of $40,000 in revenue payment which he evaded.

IN FAVOR OF REVISION.

Presbyterian Assembly Adopts With a Whirl the Majority Report.

BUT ONE RECOMMENDATION CHANGED

Doctor Moffatt Deftly Brought Order Out of Chaos—New York Chosen For Next Year's Meeting—Other Business.

Philadelphia, May 27.—When the Presbyterian general assembly met there appeared to be a disposition on the part of the commissioners to bring the debate on creed revision to an end as soon as possible. The majority of the delegates are impatient to settle the question so far as this assembly is concerned. There is still considerable other business of importance to be transacted and some of the subjects are expected to arouse much discussion.

Before proceeding to the further consideration of the question of revision, the assembly adopted the report of the committee on the next place of meeting, which selected the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church, New York, as the meeting place of the general assembly of 1902. The committee recommended to the next assembly the selection of Los Angeles for the assembly of 1903.

When the order of the day, the revision of the Confession of Faith, was reached, the moderator made a few remarks, advising against hasty action. He said there was a tendency to rush the matter so that the assembly could adjourn, and he hoped the commissioners would not get into a panicky condition and do something which they might regret.

James D. Moffatt, D. D., president of Washington and Jefferson university, who on Saturday gave notice that he would offer an amendment to the majority report, was then recognized by the moderator. Dr. Moffatt explained that he was moved to offer the amendment to recommendation B because of the small majority which on Saturday voted to retain the recommendation in the revision committee's report. Dr. Moffatt's amendment was as follows:

"We recommend that this committee be instructed to prepare and to submit to the next general assembly for such disposition as may be judged to be wise a brief statement of the reformed faith, expressed, as far as possible, in untechnical terms. The said statement is to be prepared with a view to its being employed to give information and a better understanding of our doctrinal belief, and not with a view to its being a substitute for or an alternative of our confession of faith."

The amendment was adopted by a viva voce, not one voice being raised in opposition to it. The question was then on the adoption of the majority report, and Dr. Johnson moved that the three recommendations contained in the report be taken up seriatim, and the motion was carried. The recommendation which calls for the appointment of a revision committee was adopted with only a few voices against it. Recommendation B, as amended, went through without a sign of opposition. Recommendation C, on motion of Dr. Baker of Philadelphia, was amended so that the amendments to be prepared by the committee for several chapters of the confession of faith shall be made "either by modification of the text or by declaratory statement, but so far as possible by declaratory statement." This recommendation was also adopted with but little opposition.

The question then recurred to the adoption of the report as a whole. The moderator put the question, and there was one great roar of "aye." Instantly the assembly rose en masse and sang the doxology. The moderator then led in prayer.

Presbyterians on Woman Suffrage.

Des Moines, Ia., May 27.—The United States Presbyterian general assembly placed its seal upon the question of approving woman suffrage by formally accepting the report of the judiciary committee, which was to the effect that the question was purely a civic one and therefore not one that can properly come before an ecclesiastical legislative body. Five thousand dollars was appropriated for the establishment of a mission at Dolaib-Hai, Soudan; steps were ordered to be taken for the establishment of cottages at Asyut, Egypt, and Gordon, Indian. Ten thousand dollars was appropriated for ministerial relief, the maximum annuity being fixed at $250. One hundred thousand dollars was appropriated for home missions.

San Francisco, May 27.—Herman Luetgerth, a Norwegian butcher, has been arrested in connection with the murder of 10-year-old Robert Hislop. Unless he can prove an alibi he may be tried for young Hislop's murder.

THE editor of the Public Ledger tries to create the impression that there are no tax inquisitors in Ohio. He knows better, or ought to be better informed; but that doesn't keep him from hitting his own State a slap. Tax shirkers are made to toe the mark in Ohio, just as they ought to be in Kentucky.—Evening Bulletin.
And yet one never hears of such "monkey business" in Ohio—or in any other State—as is now being enacted right here in Maysville before the Mason Circuit Court.—Public Ledger.

The editor of the Ledger admits then that his article conveying the impression that there are no tax inquisitors in Ohio was not correct. He now makes matters worse by another statement equally as incorrect. We venture the assertion that there is hardly a State in the Union that hasn't some officials engaged almost constantly ferreting out the tax-shirkers.

River News.

Urania, Indiana and Virginia up to-night. Down, Courier.

Another rise at Pittsburg and another shipment of coal coming.

The biggest up-stream tow ever tackled by a Kanawha boat was that of the E. R. Andrews the last time she left Cincinnati, all told forty-eight pieces, three of them being loaded. A fleet of this kind takes up all the channel space, when the river is at a moderate stage, that any one boat can lay claim to and make room to meet or pass other craft.

Some idea may be formed of the rapidity and the immense force of the current in the Kanawha river during the run out last week when it is stated that the outside string of empty barges in the Campbell Creek harbor were pounded and raked until they were taking water freely, and on the insertion of the drainage tubes, that are only used under way, and only take the water out when the boat is making good headway against the current, the water in this case was drawn through the tubes almost as rapidly as if it was going out by the steam siphons.

Washington, May 27.—The annual report of the chief examiner, A. R. Sowa, of the civil service commission, was made public. It shows that during the year ended June 30, 1900, 14,641 persons took the competitive examination for original appointments to the classified service. The report says that general examinations in Porto Rico have been somewhat delayed because of the uncertainty of the "people of Porto Rico." As denominated by the act establishing civil government they are citizens of the United States within the meaning of the civil service rules.

All who see Mr. C. F. Commissioner Yerkes estimates the receipts from all sources of internal revenue for the fiscal year ending June 30 at $305,000,000. This will be a gain of nearly $10,000,000 over last year. Flower thieves have begun their annual depredations in the West End, and the thefts are not committed alone by the juveniles, either. There's a chance for the police to win fame by catching some of the offenders in the act. A good, stiff fine bestowed on the older heads and the paddling machine in the other cases, it is believed would effectually cure the disease. The officers should get in their work before the gardens have been entirely denuded.

Taylor at Indianapolis may have been called some hard names, but doubtless no one ever called him a fool. This man never put the river between himself and Kentucky either for fun or glory, but the exigencies of his case required such a movement. Now, Taylor at Washington doesn't gain much fun, but he does secure a little glory, when he sells granulated sugar at eighteen pounds for $1, Arbuckle's and Golden Rio coffee at nine pounds for $1 and Levering's at ten pounds for $1.

Washington, May 27.—It is reported in naval circles at the capital that Rear Admiral Sampson may ask for voluntary retirement on account of his health and that the navy department will grant the request. He will not regularly be retired under the statutory clause until late next winter. Rear Admiral Sampson is now commandant at the Boston navy yard. He has served more than 35 years and is entitled to retirement upon application. His friends say he has nothing to gain by remaining longer in the service, for he has reached the highest grade possible now.

SUDDEN DEATH.

Mr. William Newell Stricken With Neuralgia of the Heart Monday and Expired Almost Instantly.

The friends of Mr. William Newell were shocked by the news of his sudden death Monday afternoon. He had been ill a week or so, but his condition was not thought to be especially dangerous. Here is Maysville evidence to prove it: Mrs. W. F. Cooper, of 1002 East Second street, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are worthy of the fullest confidence and their great merit and effectiveness is quickly proven by a short course of treatment. Mr. Cooper procured Doan's Kidney Pills for me at J. Jas. Wood & Son's drug store, corner of West Second and Market streets. They are worthy of the strongest endorsement."

Presidential Train Enters Nebraska.
Mrs. McKinley's Condition.

Laramie, Wyo., May 27.—The presidential special made schedule time through Utah and Wyoming. Mrs. McKinley rested well and Dr. Dixey reported that she had passed a comfortable day. The president, as usual, is the first member of the official party to arise, and at Rawlins, a little mining town where the train stopped for water, he shook hands with a number of people. The train is due to arrive at Omaha at 5 o'clock Tuesday.

Control of Northern Pacific.

New York, May 27.—Interest in the question as to whether or not the control of the Northern Pacific changed hands at the time of the recent corner of the stock was revived by the circulation of a report that the Union Pacific syndicate bought some time ago all of the Northern Pacific holdings of Edward A. Adams. In addition it was said that Mr. Adams, who is a member of the company's board of directors and executive committee, went short of the strike from 5,000 to 7,000 shares, and was one of those forced to settle at a high price after the pushing through of the corner.

Sidney's Welcome to Royalty.

Sidney, N. S. W., May 27.—The British steamer Ophir, having on board the duke and duchess of Cornwall and York, arrived here. She was joined outside the harbor by a squadron of seven government vessels conveying the premier, Sir William Lyne, the ministers and federal officials. The harbor was crowded with shipping and excursion craft, and the shores were lined with thousands of spectators. The duke and duchess landed and were greeted by enthusiastic crowds. The decorations were magnificent and a brilliant military escort awaited the coming of the party.

There is a report being circulated by some malicious person or persons in regard to the vote of Mr. Charles Kennan being challenged during election day, some being averse to his voting, as it was claimed he voted the Republican ticket at a previous election. The report had it that J. B. Furlong, a well known and highly respected farmer in this vicinity, took a leading part in opposing the casting of the vote, and was about to tear the schoolhouse down! The facts of the matter are that Mr. Furlong was eating dinner with Deputy Sheriff Mackey and several friends at the refreshment stand of the ladies of the Christian Church in the new mill when the trouble occurred, and knew nothing about it for two hours afterward. Mr. Furlong is too well known in this community for such a report to injure him, and this explanation is asked for the information of folks outside by whom he is not so well known.

A sudden squall of wind struck "burg" Friday afternoon. It was very powerful but lasted only a few minutes. It came from the West and made shingles sail, dust dance and trees tumble, the most noted being the old elm tree in Dr. Hord's pasture near the village, which has been a noted landmark for years. This was the grand old tree's fourth experience with wind storms as it bears the scars of three previous experiences with the storm king. It shelters a grand spring of pure crystal water which bubbles up from its gravel bed and was of delicious coolness but is now bereft of the cooling shade of its sheltering friend. Dr. Hord talks of replacing it with water maples. Boone Phillips, who was out in the pasture cutting bushes, took shelter under a thorn tree and it was blown down on him and he just naturally had to scratch his way out, with several unnecessary holes in his apparel. Not a drop of rain fell in the village during the storm but parties who were a few miles out from Maysville on their way to "burg," say they were caught in a heavy shower, which was however of only a few minutes duration.

Dave Dickson has a spring chicken somewhat like the Shanghai which "grew so tall you couldn't see his head at all." With some others he had him penned up fattening ready to kill. The chicken seems to have been long headed as well as long bodied, and seeming to realize his rapidly approaching end, proceeded philosophically to render all the assistance possible to his executioner by depluming himself of his feathers. When the time arrived for the killing the lanky naked pullet was left off the list of the doomed, and now struts proudly around the yard, head and shoulders above his fellows, a shining example of a misdirected effort of a cool candidate for martyrdom.

You don't have to lose your time trying to tell Josh Jones how a cowboy feels when he is riding a bucking bronco. He knows all about it. And it came to pass in this wise. He had been sent by George Sedden to bring a Miss Jennie, one of the members of the equine family who had never enjoyed an excursion on Noah's Ark, to her home near "burg" from a place a few miles distant. Josh had saddled, bridled and mounted her and was on his way homeward with visions of what reward he would receive from George and a dinner of spring accessories at home, dancing through his mind, when he was rudely awakened from his meditation at the first creek he had to ford, by the beast sitting down like a dog begging for a bone, thus announcing her intention not to take water. Josh after recovering from his slide backwards, insisted on Jane wading through, but without definite results until Boone Phillips and a friend procured a rail and one at each end pushed her across. Then she was mad! However, she went along very nicely indeed, considering the interruption, doubtless studying some new scheme she could practice more successfully. The developments came a few minutes later when suddenly dropping on her front knees, Josh was thrown, as he solemnly avers, "way over tother side of Yan's bresh pile," but to be exact, probably between eight and twelve feet. The only thing that saved him from broken bones by contact with the hard pike, was that he "lit" on his head and bounced like a rubber ball, as a natural consequence not sustaining a scratch. After the aerial acrobatic act, the jenny went home as docile as an old cow, doubtless considering it a waste of muscle to try to wreck her rider, or else in a daze at his escape under such adverse circumstances.

1,000,000 WOMEN RELIEVED

Reports received show that Wine of Cardui has brought permanent relief to 1,000,000 suffering women in the last few years. Because of Wine of Cardui, thousands of sufferers, seemingly on the way to premature graves, are now healthy women taking an active interest in the duties of life. Mrs. Mitchell was declining in health when Wine of Cardui "performed a miraculous cure" in her case. She suffered terribly with the agonies of falling of the womb, leucorrhoea and profuse menstruation. The weekly appearance of the menses for two months sapped her vitality until she was little better than a physical wreck. Her nervous system gave way under the terrible pain and aggravation. Then came the trial of Wine of Cardui and the cure. Mrs. Mitchell's experience ought to commend Wine of Cardui to suffering women in words of burning eloquence. The Wine is within the reach of all. Woman who try it are relieved. You can get as much benefit as Mrs. Mitchell received. Ask your druggist for Wine of Cardui. Send to the laboratory for the medicine if he tenders you a substitute.

WINE OF CARDUI

South Gaston, N. C., May 29, 1899.
Wine of Cardui and Theodor's Black-Draught have performed a miraculous cure in my case. I have been a great sufferer from falling of the womb and leucorrhoea, and my menses came every week for two months and became very painful. I was in a bad condition. My husband induced me to try Wine of Cardui and Black-Draught, and now I have no pain. The leucorrhoea has disappeared and now I am in perfect health. Mrs. WILLIE MITCHELL.
